

SESSION 06

Mind Mapping — Buzan's Laws

Unit 2 · Mind Mapping and Creative Thinking Techniques

120 minutes · studio · COs 109.4, 109.2

THE ONE IDEA

A list hides relationships. A Buzan map shows them — and the laws are what make the difference between a map and a doodle.

WHY IT MATTERS

1

Radiant thinking

The brain does not store in lines; it radiates from a centre. A map on paper copies that shape, which is why recall improves.

2

The laws of emphasis

A central image, not a word. Three colours minimum in that image. Branch thickness heaviest at the centre and thinning outward. Varying letter size.

WHAT TO DO WITH IT

3

The laws of clarity

ONE key word per line. Print, do not join up. The word sits on the line. Line length equals word length. Curved branches, never straight ruled ones. Paper landscape.

4

Basic Ordering Ideas

The main branches off the centre are your BOIs — the four to seven big buckets. Get those right and the rest of the map organises itself.

TODAY YOU WILL

Draw a Buzan-compliant map of your anchor enterprise, twice.

TO CLOSE

Pitch

Three minutes. The person, the stuck, the idea, the picture, the ask.

Critique

I like... / I wish... / What if... — the idea, never the person.

Idea log

One page. Silent. Box 4 is the one you read again in week 15.
